Miss Canada interviews Michael Andre' poet and publisher of the Unmuzzled Ox, a small press magazine. Miss Canada now turned blond is comfortable and gracious in her new role. Michael Andre' discusses his growing up years in Kingston and then Montreal. He briefly talks about his reasons for leaving Canada and reveals his feelings about his decision to remain in New York City. Film footage of Montreal is keyed to the first segment of the interview. The second segment of interview is keyed to pages of the Unmuzzled Ox. It is worthwhile seeing the final few minutes of tape where Miss Canada demonstrates her talents as poet and Michael Andre', his superb musical ability on the flute.
